Style : Abstract / Tech. : Acrylic on canvas

Theme : Abstraction / Category : Painting

Year : 2004

Desc. : La chambre des couleurs - First impressions. Series "La Chambre des Couleurs", started 2004 and is still in progress. "La Chambre des Couleurs" which means "the room of colors" stands as a synonym for the life itself. The painter sculptor Ana de Medeiros started this series with the painting "Entrée dans la chambre.." (entrance to the room..), a painting the artist meant to symbolize both an access to life but also an exit. Right after entering the room of colors - though slowly - a process starts, like a game full of naivety, on search, without experience, characterized by minimalistic painting in basic colors on a rough and sandy canvas which again reminds of the artists country.

Desc. : Sculptures - search for eternity: The surroundings of my childhood, the multitude of species of the sea, the shores of my country with their caverns and caves partially still don't exist any more today. In my mind, these afterglows have survived, have reached a lifetime beyond the one nature allowed them. Out of the longing for the sea of my childhood, shapes evoking the shells and grots have been formed, to make these memories tangible for the viewer.

"soul pain I"

Size (HxW) : 80x60 cm

Style : Expressionism / Tech. : Acrylic on paper

Desc. : Impressions of the soul - Again and again during lifetime one finds himself in times of trouble and defeat. The painter saves herself, lights a candle in the darkness of her soul and illuminates the chaotic and threatening situation around her with her colors and figures. Impaled by splinters of broken glass creatures try to straighten up again. These painting are of symbolic character and therefore are self-explaining. They leave the impression of a safeness put into question. The unexpected might arise anytime again from these chaotic abysses but for the time being the harmony is re-established, color and form recover again from dissonance to harmony.

Desc. : "Glimpses about electric and electronic impressions" "Electric Impressions" Is divided into two categories, whose intense artistic treatment shows artistic curiosity and a fascination for the bizarre. "one of the themes interested me, with the other one I was confronted almost daily and therefore needed to work on it " the painter says. " It started from the understanding that a considerable amount of impression today comes by means of electronic media. Telephone and television have strongly affected human communication. A quite young variant of interpersonal relationships is telephone sex which seems to get quite popular these days told by the nightly commercials on private tv stations." Not the theme of telephone sex itself is the focal point of Ana de Medeiros' images which almost shine by the use of unmixed colors, but the inner turmoil and isolation associated with it. Extract from Artur, Magazine of Art and Culture, Augsburg 1995 This excerpt only covers the telefon sex theme.
