"Cantilena"

Size (HxW) : 40x50 cm

Style : Fantasy / Tech. : Oil on canvas

Theme : Land and sea / Category : Painting

Year : 2009

Desc. : "In late medieval and early Renaissance music, term for certain vocal forms as they were known in the 15th century; also a musical texture used widely in both secular and sacred compositions of that century. Cantilena style is characterized by a predominant vocal top line supported by less complex and usually instrumental tenor and countertenor lines; it occurred both in homophonic, or chordal, music and in polyphonic music having a contrapuntal (interwoven melody) texture." "Cantilena was defined by the Flemish music theorist Johannes Tinctoris (1436?1511) as one of the smaller forms that usually treated love, although any subject was suitable. ..." In my Cantilena, you can find a "predominant top", white islands of oil paint, that are supported by less complex blue background. In terms of music described above, the focus of this painting is a visual expression of love feeling via cantilena style.

"Lacus Somniorum (Lake of Dreams)"

Size (HxW) : 45x61 cm

Style : Fantasy / Tech. : Oil on canvas

Theme : Land and sea / Category : Painting

Year : 2009

Desc. : This painting is an imagination of the Lunar lacus (singular lacus, Latin for "lake") from a close distance. Lacus Somniorum is a plain located in the northeastern part of the Moon's near side. It is located at selenographic coordinates 38.0° N, 29.2° E, and has a diameter of 384 kilometers. It is the largest of the lunar features designated Lacus. The name is Latin for Lake of Dreams, a title given to this feature by Riccioli, an Italian astronomer who was the first person to measure the rate of acceleration of a freely falling body. Lacus Somniorum is an irregular feature with complex, somewhat ill-defined borders. The surface has the same low albedo as the larger lunar mare found on the Moon, and its surface was formed by flows of basaltic lava.
